A Bug, a Bear, and a Boy
Go to School

by David McPhail
A bug, a boy, and a bear go to school. The bear carries the books. The boy carries the pencils and the paper. The bug carries the eraser.
They write their names on the blackboard.
The bear writes his name at the top.
The boy writes his name in the middle.
The bug writes his name at the bottom.
They look at the globe. The bear points to the North Pole. The bug points to the South Pole. The boy points to the equator.

Outside, they try to seesaw, but the bear is too big.
So they swing instead.

They draw pictures.
Best of all, they read.